Temporary members may join in club social activities current to their membership but will need to buy tickets where appropriate.

Fees cover one boat two adults and up to four related children under 18. The same person (or group) may not be a temporary member for more than three separate days or two weeks in any one season.

Charges for temporary membership will be £75 per week reduced to £50 if the visitor can show they are a member of a club affiliated to the RYA. Daily rates shall be £15 and £10 on a similar basis.

Temporary members of one week or more will be permitted to hold a club access card subject to a deposit of £100 obtainable from the club secretary. Temporary members of less than one week will not be entitled to a club access card and will need to access the club during club events when the dinghy park and club facilities are open. The club card will open the electronic locks at the entrance barrier, the toilets/showers and the club room during normal club operating hours 9am to 8pm April to September (for other times please enquire).

The club welcomes temporary members under the following conditions:-

2. Temporary members may not borrow club boats or helm rescue boats or the committee boat.
3. Temporary members qualifying to hold a club card must pay a deposit of £100. They may only hold the club card for the duration of their temporary membership and must return the card to the club Hon Secretary within fourteen days of the end of their temporary membership either by post or by other arrangement approved by the club Hon Secretary.
4. The deposit will be held against return of the card or other damage to club premises or property or the property of members of the club but the liability for damage will not be limited to the sum of the deposit. The charge for loss of a club card is £10.
5. Temporary members must keep all of the premises and the entrance gate locked unless they or other members are using them. The club must be left locked when you are on the water.
